Agency Leadership Announces New Members to the Armed Forces Retirement Home Advisory Council

Today marked a significant milestone as new members were sworn into the Armed Forces Retirement Home Advisory Council, as required under Section 416 of Title 24 of the United States Code.

As they assume their roles, these appointees bring a wealth of knowledge in retirement home administration, gerontology, financial management, veterans' affairs, military affairs, and other domains of expertise. This diverse cohort pledged their commitment to advancing and enriching the Home's program.

This panel will deliberate on vital issues concerning the AFRH's mission to provide care for veterans, examine policy frameworks, and offer invaluable recommendations to ensure continued access to affordable and safe housing for our enlisted veterans.

"We stand at a pivotal moment, and the collective expertise and dedication of this Advisory Council will be instrumental in shaping the future of the AFRH," remarked John RisCassi, AFRH Chief Operating Officer. "Their commitment to excellence and their diverse perspectives will undoubtedly drive forward innovative strategies to tackle the pressing challenges facing our agency."

The swearing-in ceremony serves as an inaugural step towards a collaborative, forward-thinking approach, emphasizing the Council's role in providing guidance and strategic foresight for the AFRH.
